

Get Involved.

Make it Happen.

Be a Part of More.

Strengthen skills, meet people, and make change by getting involved with one of the many opportunities available within Residential Life.

Become a member of your community's Hall Council!

At Northeastern, each residence hall complex has its own Hall Council, which leads its residence hall(s) by planning programs and advocating on behalf of its residents.

Join the Resident Student Association (RSA)!

RSA is a Northeastern University student-run group dedicated to enhancing the student experience for those living in our community. They do this by advocating for change and hosting campus events, like their famous Husky Hunt.

Participate in Hall Cup!

The Hall Cup is an annual year-long competition between the first-year residential communities. The purpose is to help students develop an affinity for the university and their residential community.

Apply to be a Resident Assistant (RA)!

RAs are student leaders who live in our residence halls to plan social and educational engagements, build connections, and support students' well-being. Applications for the next academic year will be available in October.
